Creating a Blue Zone in the Himalayas

Dan Buettner, founder of Blue Zones and National Geographic Fellow, led an expedition identifying five global regions where people live past 100 healthily.

He now helps transform cities into Blue Zones through environmental and policy changes, improving life expectancy and health for millions.

The Shikhar Group shares this vision, with over 20 projects and 5,000 clients focused on well-being and longevity, reflecting Blue Zones values.

“Genes determine only 20% of our lifespan, 80% is shaped by lifestyle.”

Our Design Philosophy

Our Design Philosophy

Respecting the Land. Reflecting the Legacy. Shaping a Future of Wellness.

At Anandvan Villas, architecture finds its soul in the land itself. Inspired by the timeless beauty of Pahadi homes and majestic stone formations, our vision weaves modern luxury with native simplicity — ensuring every villa feels connected to the earth, not imposed upon it.

The traditional white lime-washed walls, blue accents, and sloping roofs of Kumaon — echoed across cultures from Santorini to the Alps — remind us that beauty lies in humility, in harmony with nature. We honour this timeless palette, creating homes that blend in with the hills and soothe the spirit.

We design not just with a view from the mountain — but with deep sensitivity to how we become part of the view for those across it. Each contour is respected. Each slope is embraced. Each intervention is conscious and necessary.

Every home will be bespoke and tailor-made, thoughtfully crafted under the vision of our architect and design team to suit the personal dreams of our esteemed residents — while staying rooted in the architectural clarity envisioned for Anandvan Villas.

We draw inspiration from the Blue Zones philosophy — shaping a community where wellness, longevity, and harmony are not afterthoughts but the very foundations of living.

Anandvan Villas is not just a project; it's an ode to the mountains, a living legacy for future generations.
